Born in Dallas, Florencio Hernandez, or Flo is moving up fast in stand-up comedy.

Recognized as one of the hot young Latino comics. Flo is performing at clubs and events across the US. Compared by critics to Latino comedy greats George Lopez and the late Freddy Soto, Flo delivers fast paced, high energy stand-up that crosses all cultural, ethnic and economic boundaries. Flo takes his comedy on the road every chance he gets. Popular with major clubs in Dallas and Houston this entertainer rocks the house. Already gaining a fan base, Flo is known for his signature "Paleta Man" and "Garage Sale" routines, always audience favorites. Born to proud Mexican American parents, he was always the class clown while growing up. As an adult, Flo tried the "corporate cubical 9 to 5" but his passion for making people laugh called him to the stage. He took the risk and jumped to pursue a full time career in comedy. Even when others thought he was crazy, he took the challenge. Today Flo is building a comedy tidal wave in clubs and cities across the southwest.
